Health Travel – Made Easy

Meet caresocius

A platform that's doing for treatments what Airbnb did for apartments (and more) by identifying budget, doctors, region and logistics. Providing virtual medical second opinions globally, at the touch of a button to bring them together in real life.

Simply upload medical data, connect, get expert advice and travel (if needed).

Connecting patients and doctors securely.

What is Caresocius doing?

- Telemedicine (tel-uh-med-uh-sin noun [U]):
Remote consultations and discussion of a patient's medical condition by telecommunications technology.
- Caresocius is:
 - A platform that allows medical physicians to offer second opinions to patients remotely.
 - Designed to support physicians by increasing patient flow worldwide.
 - For easy management of international patient requests.

Our Vision is to create a platform that works as a digital bridge between patients and their doctors, worldwide.

Let's rewire the medical travel industry, together.

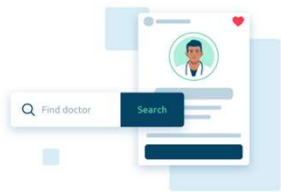

We offer patient support in the following countries:

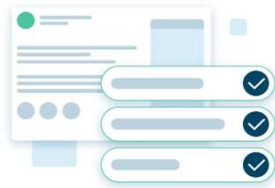

How does it work?

A digital bridge between patients and expert healthcare providers, no matter where they are, therefore allowing clarity on the associated costs and treatment plan before making any commitments.

Merchandise & Media

In today's world, where businesses have tens, hundreds, or even thousands of competitors dealing with similar products or services, the only businesses that win are those that strive to meet and exceed these customer expectations through service excellence.

To paraphrase Jeff Bezos, your customers are like guests to a party, and your business is the host. Your job is to make every critical aspect of their experience better every day. Research shows that 73% of companies with above-average customer experience perform better financially than their competitors.

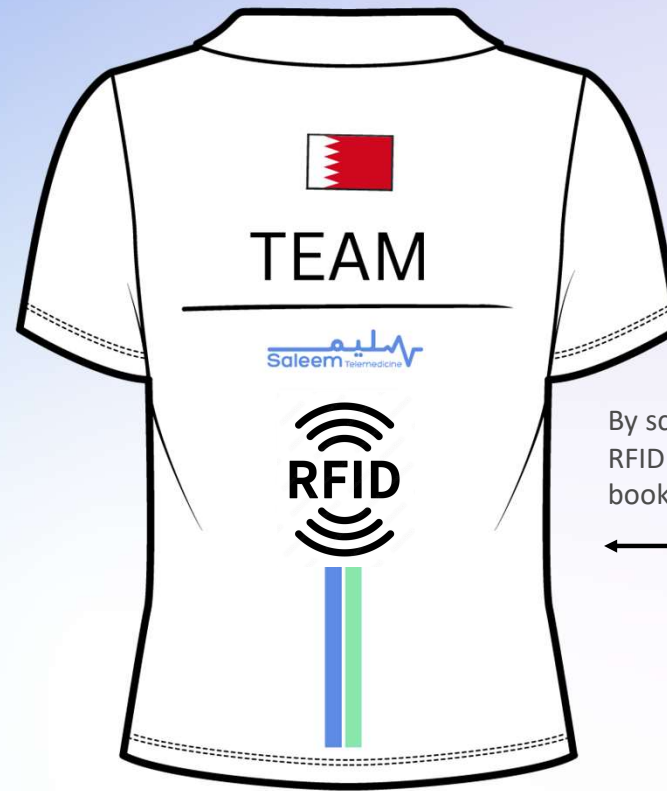

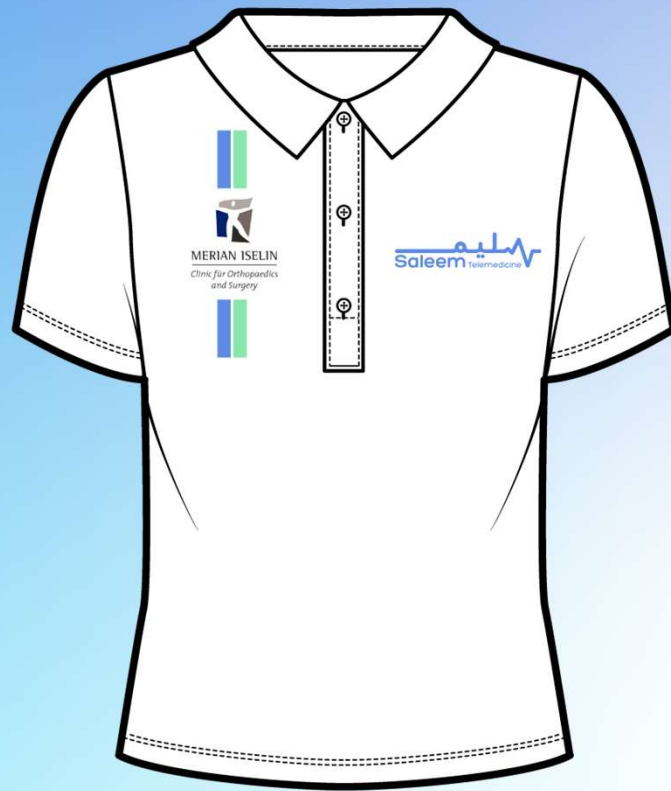

Ensuring your customers get the best service will benefit your business in the following ways:
